

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and small dark spots. A prominent dark, irregular stain is visible along the bottom edge, possibly from water damage or handling. The right edge of the page is bordered by a dark, textured material, which appears to be the book's binding or cover.

The Paragraph Pulpit.

BY EDWIN A. RUMBALL.

Jesus never tells men that they need a Savior. If the human need for a Savior was as important as Paul makes out, it certainly seems strange that Jesus never emphasizes it. When he tells the people to be as perfect as G. d (Matt. 5:48)
 he assumes that we possess all the means necessary for salvation. Otherwise, he mocks us. Is it not mockery to tell a drowning man to swim, if we know he is ignorant of swimming? Such a man wants help not advice, but Jesus gave advice not help, because he knew that mankind did not need help.

True religion calls for every man's best, manly character, not the acceptance of some one else's best. "Then your religion cannot make a murderer mount the scaffold happy and comforted because he has been washed in the blood of the Lamb." No! I thank God that true religion cannot do that. It is a hideous travesty of religion for a man whose hands are stained with his fellow's blood to be made to imagine he is dying like a Christian. Christianity may say comforting things, but religion is not intended to give comfort, it is intended to spread goodness and faith in God. It says to every sinner in pulpit and pew, whatsoever you sow you reap, turn from your sins to serve the living God.

Rev. Nathan D. Center.

Rev. Nathan D. Center, aged 85 years, one of the oldest members of the Maine Methodist conference died Sunday at his home in Westbrook. He was a son of Isaac and Sarah (Kilgore) Center. He was born in Sweden, and completed his education in that town.

He was a carriage maker by trade and entered that line of work in the city of Biddeford. He was made a member of the Maine Conference in 1856 and was actively connected with it until 1888 when he met with a painful accident in East Poland, where he was located. His injuries were so serious that he was placed on the supernumerary list. He has been a resident of Westbrook for the past 12 years. His death was due to heart failure which was caused by a bad cold contracted last spring.

The first charge assigned to Mr. Center and those following are as follows:
 1857-8 West Cumberland; 1859-60 Newfield; 1861-2 York; 1863-4 Standish;
 1865 Newfield; 1866 Goodwins Mills; 1867-8 supernumerary; 1869 supernumerary; 1870-01 located; 1872-3 North Yarmouth; 1874-5 Freeport; 1876 Bethel; 1877-8 Richmond; 1878-81 South Waterford; 1882 Harpswell; 1883-4 Rumford; 1885 East Poland; 1886 to 1907 supernumerary.

Mr. Center is survived by a wife and two sons, Fred N. of Portland, and Frank H. of Manchester, N. H., and a daughter, Mrs. Harold Knowlton, of Watertown, Mass. Mr. Center was twice married, his first wife being a resident of Biddeford and his second a native of Fryeburg.

To Check Reckless Driving.

A determined effort to check reckless automobilists in Massachusetts has been begun by the Safe Roads Automobile association, which has announced the offer of various rewards for evidence against offending owners and drivers.

In a statement in connection with its offers, the association submits that in Massachusetts alone there were 92 automobile accidents in the twenty-six days from June 14 to July 10. Nine foot passengers were killed and thirty-four injured in those twenty-six days—more fatalities than occurred in the United States navy during the Spanish war. There were also forty-one collisions between automobiles and other vehicles during the same period, where the damage was

How to Starch Rightly.

One of the secrets of perfectly laundered garments is in the starching, says the Brown Book. Always turn garments' wrong side out before putting them in the starch, rub and clap the starch well through, but do not let a bit of it run upon the right side. Thin materials should not be starched at all, but should be dipped into gum water made of white gum arabic. Especial care should be taken in sprinkling such garments, as they cannot stand the drizzling which thicker materials are often treated to.

While preaching in Pueblo, Colo., a few years ago Rev. Edward J. Wilcox found himself in the embarrassing position of being unable to pay his debts. Knowing that if he stuck to the pulpit he would have small chance of getting even with the world, he quit preaching and went into the mining business. Today he owns mines in Colorado worth $3,000,000, besides a great deal of other valuable property.

It has just been discovered that Gashavant G. Pandit, a very wealthy high caste Hindoo and a protege of the gaekwar of Baroda, is working as a common laborer in an acid factory at Roscoe, N. D. Pandit, though said to be worth millions, works and lives as the other laborers do. Industrial conditions in India are in a deplorable state, he declares, and it is his intention to take part in the task of revolutionizing them in his native land.

It has now been settled without question, says the Brass World, that the best trolley wheels are those which contain no lead. The constant arcing of the wheel and wire burns out the lead and causes the wheel to wear rapidly. If a trolley wheel is found which contains lead it is certain that it will wear out rapidly. It is very difficult to obtain pure metals on the market which do not contain lead. For this reason trolley wheels must be manufactured from new metals.

BURNT CLAY ROADS.

An Economical Method of Good Highway Building.

Congress some time ago established an office of public roads, which it instructed to conduct experiments and devise methods for improving the roads of the United States. The office has done a great deal to arouse interest throughout the United States in the necessity of good roads and has originated several means of making good roads economically. The latest discovery is that of burning clay roads in Mississippi.

In large areas in the south, particularly in the valleys of the Mississippi and its tributaries, sedimentary clays are found very generally, says William L. Spoon, a government road expert. In these areas there is little or no sand, and the clays are of a particularly plastic and sticky variety. These sticky clays are locally known as "gumbo."

WOOD AND CLAY READY FOR FIRING.

and "backshot." In such localities traffic is absolutely impossible during the wet season, as the wheels of heavy vehicles will sink to the hub. In order to overcome this difficulty the office of public roads undertook an investigation of the matter. Special experiments were carried on in the laboratory to see what could be done in the way of burning or clinkering these clays so as not only to destroy their plastic qualities, but also so far as possible to form hard, bricklike lumps which should be capable of sustaining traffic. Samples of the material were sent from the Yazoo district in Mississippi to the laboratory, and the clinkered clay was found to be sufficiently low to indicate that simple burning of the lumpy clays upon the road surface by means of open wood fires would accomplish the desired result. Following these laboratory experiments it was decided to make experiments on a road, and it can be stated that this experimental road is proving highly satisfactory.

Gumbo clay is black owing to the high percentage of organic or vegetable matter it contains. It is particularly sticky in its nature and is almost wholly free from sand and grit. After it has been burned, however, the plasticity is entirely destroyed and a light clinker is formed which, though not particularly hard, when pulverized forms a smooth surface and seems to wear well. It should be understood that not all of the clay out of which the road is to be constructed is to be clinkered, but only a sufficient amount should be rendered nonplastic to neutralize the too sticky character of the native clay. Fortunately the gumbo district is plentifully covered with heavy timber, thus affording an abundance of fuel.

While the only experimental burnt clay road constructed by the office was in Mississippi, the same methods might be applied with equally good results in the sections of the prairie states that have no other material available for road building.

Good sound wood, as dry and well seasoned as it is possible to procure, should be provided before beginning the work and stacked at convenient intervals along the side of the road. About one cord of wood has been found necessary for eight linear feet of roadbed twelve feet wide.

The wood may be cut either to four, eight or twelve foot lengths. Brushwood, if it is dry, as well as chips, bark, old fence rails and railroad ties, coal slack—in fact, any sort of fuel that can be easily and economically obtained—may be used to advantage with the cord wood.

While preaching in Pueblo, Colo., a few years ago Rev. Edward J. Wilcox found himself in the embarrassing position of being unable to pay his debts. Knowing that if he stuck to the pulpit he would have small chance of getting even with the world, he quit preaching and went into the mining business. Today he owns mines in Colorado worth $3,000,000, besides a great deal of other valuable property.

It has just been discovered that Gashavant G. Pandit, a very wealthy high caste Hindoo and a protege of the gaekwar of Baroda, is working as a common laborer in an acid factory at Roscoe, N. D. Pandit, though said to be worth millions, works and lives as the other laborers do. Industrial conditions in India are in a deplorable state, he declares, and it is his intention to take part in the task of revolutionizing them in his native land.

It has now been settled without question, says the Brass World, that the best trolley wheels are those which contain no lead. The constant arcing of the wheel and wire burns out the lead and causes the wheel to wear rapidly. If a trolley wheel is found which contains lead it is certain that it will wear out rapidly. It is very difficult to obtain pure metals on the market which do not contain lead. For this reason trolley wheels must be manufactured from new metals.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

MR. ELEPHANT TRIES TO TAKE ADVICE

"Be a man! Be a man!" cried the papa elephant to his eldest son. And the son decided that he would take this advice.

"How can I be a man?" he asked the baboon.

"Well, in the first place, you must wear a man's clothes," replied the baboon.

So Mr. Elephant bought himself a suit of clothes and a hat.

"Oh, my, they are uncomfortable!" he declared. "But I shall wear them."

MR. ELEPHANT SAT DOWN.

"If you are going to be a man," the baboon interrupted, "you must walk on your hind legs."

And so Mr. Elephant wobbled around on his hind legs until he was about played out.

"Goodness me!" he exclaimed. "This is tiresome. What does a man do when he is tired?"

"Why, he sits down," said the baboon.

So Mr. Elephant sat down to rest, but he was not satisfied.

"It is almost as tiresome sitting down as standing up," said Mr. Elephant. "What does a man do when he gets tired sitting down doing nothing?"

"He takes a smoke," said the baboon.

Then the elephant got a pipe and tobacco and tried to smoke, but he made a wonderful fizzle of it.

He got smoke in his eyes, in his nose and his throat, and he was in a pretty predicament.

"I don't want to be a man!" he cried, while tears streamed down his cheeks. "I am going to try to be a good elephant instead."

"That's what I meant in the first place," said his father—Pittsburg Dispatch.

CURE FOR TIGHT DOORS.

How to Treat Them and Dresser Drawers That Stick Fast.

"Patrons come to me every day and say that the drawers of dressers and other furniture stick fast and cannot be opened or shut without great difficulty," said the "complaint man" in a downtown furniture store to a reporter of the New York Mail. "This is a trouble with much furniture, especially that which is new, and is especially common in the spring."

"What do we do in such cases? We simply tell the customers to wet the surface of a bar of common laundry soap and rub it firmly over the parts of the wood that stick. This makes the surface smooth and slippery, and in nearly all cases the drawer will slide easily, especially after it has been opened and shut a few times."

"This also is valuable with doors, which in new flats are likely to settle or are apt to scrape at the top as the building settles. Just use soap on them and save the trouble of calling in a carpenter, who will plane the varnish off."

"China cabinet doors, with curved glass, cause us a lot of trouble, but most of the tightness can be remedied by the use of soap and a few applications of sandpaper."

The furniture man gave another "helpful hint."

"If mission furniture, with the dull finish, its smooth surface and characteristic waxy appearance," he said, "do not despair and send it to the renovator. Take a pound cake of common floor wax and rub it over the surface until the finish is restored. If you have no floor wax use beeswax, and if you prefer something made especially for the purpose you can buy liquid preparations, one of which will remove the old finish, leaving the table top or other object ready for the application of the other substance, which will duplicate the original finish."

A Bumpston Doctor.

An amusing instance of bumpstonness and affectation of superior knowledge on the part of a medical man receiving a wholesome check at the hands of a juryman is recorded in Lord Cockburn's "Circuit Journeys."

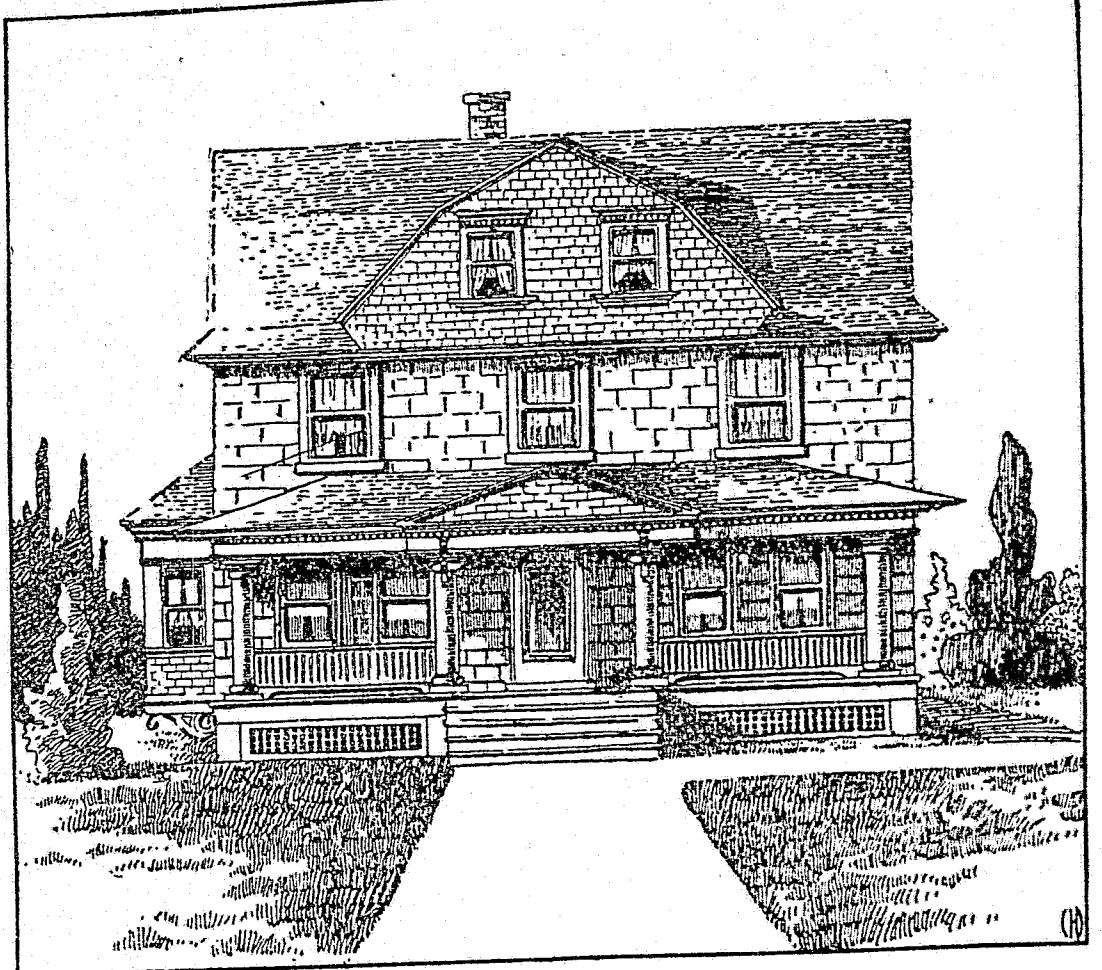

A woman was being tried for the murder of her child, and it appeared from the evidence that the child's throat was crammed full of bits of coal and that there were marks of a thumb and two fingers on the outside of the neck.

These practical tests, however, had little effect upon medical opinion. Whenever any of the murderous appearances, such as the finger marks on the neck, were put to one of the doctors called for the defense the scientific gentleman, to show his experience, stated that however much these things might startle the ignorant they were of no consequence to a person of large practice and that he himself had seen hundreds of children born with identical marks. "Aye, but doctor," said one of the jurymen of a practical turn of mind, "did ye ever see any o' them born wi' coals i' their mouths?"

ALL WOMEN SUFFER

from the same physical disturbances, and the nature of their duties, in many cases, quickly drift them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, organic troubles, ulcerations, falling and displacements, or perhaps irregularly or suppression causing backache, nervousness, irritability, and sleeplessness.

Women everywhere should remember that the medicine that holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female ills is made from simple native roots and herbs. For more than thirty years made from helping women to be strong, regulating the functions perfectly and overcoming pain. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for child birth and the change of life.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MRS. A. M. HAGERMANN

Mrs. A. M. Hagermann, of Bay Shore, L. I., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I suffered from a displacement, excessive and painful functions, so that I had to lie down or sit still most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman so that I am able to attend to my duties. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see what relief it will give them.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female illness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Therefore she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health.

WEST LOVELL.

Mrs. Victor H. McAllister, wife of Victor H. McAllister, aged 34 years, died Sunday July 28th, Edith, wife of Victor H. McAllister, aged 1 month, 28 days. Mrs. McAllister was recovering from an illness and had begun to sit up when she was taken with bilious colic. Two physicians were in attendance but she only survived 38 hours. Mr. and Mrs. McAllister had buried two daughters and Mr. McAllister and son Wendell, aged 8, are left alone. A large number of neighbors were gathered at the funeral Tuesday afternoon to pay their last respects to the departed. Suncook Grange, of which she was a member, attended in a body and performed their burial service at the grave in West Lovell burial ground, Adelbert Stacey, Rev. J. H. Daniels, Leonard Bowley and Merton A. Lord, members of the order, being bearers. The funeral services were conducted by G. H. Brown, and Rev. J. W. Card spoke words of sympathy to the family. Several selections were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Melton Eastman, Aubrey Kimball and Althea Varum, Mrs. Lester Stearns presiding at the organ.

The casket was surrounded by beautiful flowers, among which was: Wreath, wife—Mr. McAllister and Mrs. Wm. Adams. Wreath—Mr. and Mrs. Dana McAllister. Wreath—Mrs. J. W. Card. Wreath—Crystal Valley D. R. Wreath of pond lilies—Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fox. Wreath of sweet peas—Mrs. H. A. Bickford. Spray of orchids—Alice Adams. Cross and flowers—Mrs. J. McAllister. 21 pond lilies—Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Irish. Wreath—Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Nichols. Fancies—Mrs. Fred W. Adams. Flowers—Mrs. Florence Andrews.

Dr. Crockett's Book.

J. K. Waters Co., Boston, have issued a novel called "The Plunderer, from the pen of Dr. George Langtry Crockett. We who live in the Second Congressional District know Dr. Crockett. He is the stormy petrel of Second District politics. As a novel it cannot take a high place; but as a portrayal of politics and dirty politics too it must take the head of the column. The doctor calls his book a political romance and it is to be hoped that some of it is romance, but it must be admitted that some of the statements contained in it are facts.

The doctor has written some apt paragraphs. Here is one on the annual town meeting:

"The first Monday in March in most Maine towns is town meeting day. The Fourth of July is when Young America reigns supreme. Everybody enjoys Christmas. All grown up people go to the State Fair. But town meeting day is when the average man asserts his American rights. Some vote to help a friend; others for a party and not a few drop in a ballot for revenge. Hatred, jealousy, family relations, fraternal brotherhood, business dealings and party loyalty are all important factors."

"The doctor puts a speech into one of his character's mouths, who is running for office, which sounds very natural: "I don't want the job, but what's a man going to do when all the best people in town want him?"

The author is a radical in politics and therefore a friend to labor and has said some nice things about the under dog in the fight:

"Labor has built palaces but has not occupied them. It has grown delicate foods but has not eaten them. It has woven the finest cloth but has not worn it. It has produced wealth and others have enjoyed it. It has fought the world's battles for others to rule. Take labor from your farms and weeds will grow. Take labor from your mills and they will fall in ruins. Take labor from your railroads and their rails will be but streaks of rust. Let labor cease its toil and in one week famine will be rampant in the cities of the land."

In speaking of morals in politics the author says that all politicians claim to be following the voice of God, but most of them "can't tell the voice of God from that of the bosses."

Dr. Crockett says politics is a fad and should be a noble one, but is not so considered. In comparing facts he has this to say:

"Filling a red squirrel with lead, chasing a little rabbit with a dog, is many; racing horses is the sport of kings; but to take an interest in public affairs is to demonstrate a corrupt turn of mind."

Here is a description of legal pleading that sounds familiar:

"He began by extolling the judge, who really deserved it for maintaining his dignity during the trial. He next bragged on the noble faces, the clear eyes, the good countenances, the beautiful features of the jurors, in fact the best panel he ever saw."

HARRISON.

Another Summer School Camp. There is quite a probability that another summer school and camp will be established in South Harrison as Dr. Pierson S. Page, Principal of Phillips School, Andover, Mass., is negotiating with E. D. Gray for some two acres of land on his shore front, and it is quite probable that the trade will be made. The doctor is running a school and camp in Raymond this summer, and it is the South Harrison property this will be transferred there next summer and will probably be carried on on an enlarged scale. The location is a fine one.

Work is progressing well on J. H. Randall's new buildings. The barn and stable are nearly completed and the cellar is all ready for the house. These buildings will probably be the finest set in Harrison.

A great abundance of rain has fallen since August began, 2.41 inches being the fall for the first four days. The hay weather for the last two weeks has been almost unprecedented, and much upland hay is still standing. During one whole week many did not succeed in securing any, and those that did had a peculiar knack of making hay when there was no sun. We are hoping for better things. The meadows are very wet at present.

The schools at the village and in South Harrison will begin on Monday, August 12th, and all the teachers on Monday, August 26th, unless special notice is given to the contrary. The teachers will mostly be the same as in the summer, although some changes will be made. Ruth M. Buck has resigned her position in the South Harrison school and Bertella Towne of Oxford has been engaged to take her place. Mrs. Alice Wilbur has resigned her position in the Brackett school and her successor has not yet been engaged.

Harrison, especially Maple Ridge and South Harrison, was visited by a series of powerful showers last Friday afternoon. Lightning entered the cellar of James Thomes probably by way of the water pipes. Its marks were plainly to be seen in places but it did no damage except to put the telephone out of commission. Several of the poles on the telephone line were struck and some of them were slightly shattered. Homer Libby, son of Herbert Libby, received quite a shock while near the telephone wire in the backyard at home. He would have fallen to the ground if his father had not caught him and it was several minutes before he came to sufficiently to speak. Several telephones were burned out, this being the third time that this has happened during the present summer.

Abbie Smith and Nancy Hobbs are spending August at Ocean Park.

Callie Thomes died quite suddenly at her residence here, Monday afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Wakely of the Free Baptist church went to Massachusetts, Monday, to officiate at the wedding of his son. He and his wife will visit Ocean Park before their return.

Rev. Mr. Flint and wife of Deering with Rev. Mr. Davis of the Congregational church are camping on the shore of Long lake. Mr. Flint preached at the Congregational church Sunday afternoon in exchange with the pastor.

F. W. Ricker moved into his new store August 6th. C. W. Jackson has been occupying his for about two weeks. Both are fine buildings and are fitted up in modern style. Both are to have rents fitted up in the second story for the residence of the owners. Both will probably be lighted by electricity when Summer Whitney installs his dynamo.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ricker, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ricker, their daughter and Caroline Shorey of Lisbon Falls spent Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 3d and 4th, at their cottages on Long lake. While on their way in their steam launch Maye, under full speed, C. F. Ricker had a stroke and landed a two-pound salmon. One thing which was noticeable was the fact that the launch was running nearly six times as fast.

The sale held at the Congregational vestry Wednesday afternoon and evening was well attended and very successful. Those presiding at the tables were:—Apron table, Mercy Gray; white table, Jessie Ricker; pillow table, Nellie Fogg and Luella Dudley; fancy table, Lizzie Doughty and Cora Briggs; food table, Gertrude Blake and Mrs. W. H. Bailey; home-made candies, Ada Flint and Cassie Pierce; ice cream, Mrs. Ada Chapman assisted by Elsie Burnham and Annie Furrington. The ladies of the committee, Emma Kilbourne, Jessie Ricker and Mrs. W. H. Briggs, are to be congratulated on a very pleasant occasion and the substantial sum of $84 received.
